

QUESTIONS

Remember this is a dialogue, not a quiz. The questions are a good start to draw out observations about the story, and the “answers” are just there to help you guide kids toward some key ideas.

- 1. Why is this story called the “Passover”?
- 2. Can you remember God’s promise to Abraham? What parts of God’s promise to Abraham do we see beginning to be fulfilled?
- 3. How many descendants did Abraham have in just a couple of generations?
- 4. How did God treat the Israelites’ enemies?
- 5. Why do you think God would harden Pharaoh’s heart? What did Pharaoh’s stubbornness allow God to do?
- 6. Where is water mentioned in this story? How is this significant?
- 7. Where have we seen water mentioned in previous stories?
- 8. What did God specifically say about the animal they were to sacrifice? Why did it need to be pure?
- 9. Why do you think God required blood to be put on the Israelites’ door posts to be saved? What does blood represent, and what does it mean?

QUESTIONS

10. How might you have felt that Passover night as a Hebrew? Would you have doubted God would save you in this situation?

11. What does the story teach us about God?

- He keeps His promises (covenant, warnings to Pharaoh).
- He is able to deliver and protect all who cry out to Him.
- He is powerful.
- He cares for people.
- He is the source of grace.
- He wants to use people to represent Him.
- He allows suffering.
- His ways are sometimes hard for us to understand at first. (He warned Pharaoh.)
- He punishes injustice and wrong.
